you'll find that birds and other small animals are very picky about nesting materials and choose only the finest and softest little twigs and leaves