a double-blind, 12-month, placebo- and active-controlled study enrolled immunocompetent adults with a history of 6 or more recurrences per year social anxiety: like the treatment approach to panic disorder, treating social anxiety usually involves cognitive behavioral therapy, combined with medications