Knowing that high-quality, safe abortions are provided differently overseas helped us understand that abortion services can be provided in new, more customer-focused ways in the United States.