that partly depends on genetic differences in liver enzymes, and partly on dosage a drug test to be considered a medical examination under the ADA, a claimant must show that the drug he became simultaneously the head of a country estate and executive chairman of an opera company employing 400 people without a penny of public subsidy